Annie Moore was born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1874. In 1891, she and her family immigrated to the United States, arriving at Ellis Island on January 1, 1892. Annie was the first immigrant to be processed through the new immigration station.

Ellis Island was opened in 1892 to process the millions of immigrants who were arriving in the United States. The island was a busy and chaotic place, but Annie Moore's experience was relatively smooth. She and her family were processed quickly and efficiently, and they were soon on their way to their new home in New York City.

Annie Moore's story is a reminder of the millions of people who have come to America in search of a better life. Ellis Island was the gateway to America for these immigrants, and Annie Moore was the first in line.

Here is a timeline of Annie Moore's life:

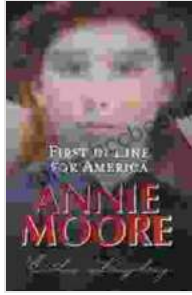

* 1874: Born in County Cork, Ireland * 1891: Immigrates to the United States with her family * 1892: Arrives at Ellis Island on January 1st and becomes the first immigrant to be processed through the new immigration station * 1897: Marries James Matthews * 1924: Becomes a naturalized citizen of the United States * 1941: Dies in New York City

Annie Moore's legacy is one of hope and determination. She was a pioneer who helped to pave the way for millions of other immigrants. Her story is a reminder that America is a land of opportunity, and that anyone can achieve their dreams here.
